

Brian S. Gruber, M.D.

GENERAL SURGERY FACULTY

Dr. Gruber is the director of trauma/surgical critical care services at St. Elizabeth Health Center in Youngstown, Ohio. He is a clinical assistant professor of surgery with Northeastern Ohio Universities College of Medicine in Rootstown, Ohio and a clinical assistant professor of general/trauma surgery at Ohio University College of Medicine in Athens, Ohio. Dr. Gruber has chaired or participated in several academic committees and belongs to multiple professional societies, including the Society of American Gastrointestinal Endoscopic Surgeons, Society of Critical Care Medicine and the Eastern Association for the Surgery of Trauma. He has authored several publications and has presented on many topics related to surgical trauma. Board certified in general surgery, Dr. Gruber's clinical interests include hyperbaric oxygen therapy, critical care and laparoscopic surgery.

MEDICAL DEGREE:

Northeastern Ohio Universities College of Medicine (NEOUCOM), Rootstown, Ohio

RESIDENCY:

General Surgery, St. Elizabeth Health Center

FELLOWSHIP:

Multidisciplinary Critical Care Training Program
UPMC, Pittsburgh

LOCATION:

St. Elizabeth Ambulatory Care Center
Academic Surgical Associates
1001 Covington Avenue, Youngtown, Ohio
330-480-2371